

I love my XM Radio. It's better quality than FM (haven't tried digital FM yet though), has better music, and the specialized traffic and weather reports are great! There is no reason to limit what a sat. radio company can broadcast as long as they are licenced for the material from the content creators. With the increasing subscriber count for XM and Sirius radio, it's no wonder FM radio broadcasters are trying to limit the next new big technology, which is stealing away their listeners.
